PROFILE My next great adventure in life is to find an amazing job. Ideally I am looking for a job that will present challenges in a creative atmosphere. I have already had so many great experiences in my life such as: traveling to 51 countries and 49 states; writing and editing for a humor magazine; managing a media coalition; being a landlord; owning my own company; and more. I plan to draw from these experiences to improve my future work. I studied Computer Science in university because I loved the problem solving and creative aspects of it. I also love media, such as music, film, art, and literature. I found a perfect combination of the two in building websites, which was the basis for my company I started three years ago.
